THE GLEE CLUBS

Music Department

THE GLEE CLUBS

During the Fall Quarter the Glee Clubs devoted much of their time to the preparation of Handel's Messiah. As a climax to this work, the clubs were combined with the Eastern Tennessee Messiah Chorus of 435 voices for a Sunday evening concert in Johnson City and in Bristol. Possibly the high spot of the season for both glee clubs and orchestra was the Spring Concert in which selections were given from Wagner's Flying Dutchman, Page's Old Plantation Days, and Lehar's The Merry Widow.

THE BAND

As a marching and concert organization with a membership of forty-seven, the band has added immeasurably to both school and civic activities. The band is planning to attend the Rhododendron Festival at Asheville, North Carolina, again this year where it placed third last summer in competition with eight other organizations.

THE MUSIC FESTIVAL

The Annual Music Festival in which the Teachers College is host to all surrounding public schools and colleges took place April 20 to 26. Total participants numbered 2060, which is by far the largest registration since its founding.

THE INSTITUTE OF MUSIC

While the Music Department has held a high position for several years in the training of music supervisors, this coming summer promises to give added impetus to its progress. Osbourne McConathy, distinguished music educator and author, is to be a guest member of the faculty. He will be assisted by Elver J. Fitchhorn, expert band instructor, and Henry Harris, rising young American pianist.

The International Relations Club was organized during the fall quarter, 1935. Fourteen juniors and seniors were invited by the faculty to become charter members. Membership in this society is based on scholarship and interest in such an organization. The club is a member of the International Peace Council set up by the Carnegie Endowment and is one of many similar clubs organized throughout the United States and foreign countries. Its purpose is to promote peace through a study and understanding of international problems.

In bringing to a close a successful year, the members hope that each succeeding year will bring added interest and strength to the organization.

In 1892 an organization was formed and became known as the International Kindergarten Union; in 1930 it merged with the National Council of Primary Education and finally became known as the Association of Childhood Education.

The purpose of the organization is to further educational opportunities for young children by raising professional standards of teachers.

March 25-27, Sue Williams represented Teachers College at the T. E. A. meeting at Nashville.

April 22 a group from T. C. held a joint meeting with Kingsport chapter. Miss Elizabeth Black, our sponsor, was the speaker.

Buccaneer Orators

Led by their dapper young captain, Robert B. Cox, the fire-eating, bull slinging Buccaneer orators marched to Winthrop College, Rock Hill, S. C., on December 14 to begin the season. The event was the Strawberry Leaf Tournament in which the Buccaneers won two places. Gunnar Teilmann took first place in Extemporaneous speaking while Neil Sabin won second in After-dinner speaking.

The next campaign carried these corsairs to Boone, N. C. Captain Cox, wishing to bring home a few prizes, wisely took some girl representatives, and true to his expectations they captured several places. Hortense Powell won first place in girls' Oratory and in girls' Extempore. Betty Johnson took second place in the latter event. Jack Dunn, in order to uphold the masculine end of the team, took first place in men's Impromptu.

Turning swiftly from Boone, the Buccaneer band made a thrust at Bristol, Virginia. Virginia Intermont College was host to another tournament in which we were recipients of more awards. The senior members of the team walked away with the honors with M. F. Parsley taking first place as Individual Debator and Betty Johnson as girls' Extempore and Impromptu speaker.

Flushed with victory, the Buc orators then turned to Tusculum College to win the Smoky Mountain Conference Debate Tournament, the first decision debates of the year. After this, debates were confined to home territory until the team again left for Rock Hill, S. C. In the South Atlantic Forensic Tournament, the team won eight out of twelve debates in competition with thirty other colleges and universities. First place in After-dinner speaking fell to Neil Sabin.

The crowning event of the year was the dual-province tournament of Pi Kappa Delta held at Johnson City. Schools from the Kentucky and South Atlantic provinces assembled with us for an enjoyable two-day meet. The Buccaneer teams went to the finals in debate; Parsley and Sabin lost to Wake Forest in their first and only loss of the season thus losing the tournament. Gross and Belvin also made a splendid showing. Sabin captured first place in After-dinner speaking.

Those who are newcomers to the Buccaneer orators this year are: Betty Johnson, Hortense Powell, Gunnar Teilmann, Jack Dunn, Wayne Lacy, George Trotter, Bill Belvin and Mack Gross. These were all awarded membership in Pi Kappa Delta, national honorary debate fraternity. The highly successful season enjoyed by the team was in a large measure due to the newly created Speech Activity class and the cooperation of all the students.

A program committee was appointed each Wednesday night by the President to work out a program for Wednesday night meetings and the following Sunday night Vesper Service.

Several distinguished speakers of Johnson City gave talks from time to time.

At Christmas-time approximately thirty children were made happy through the thoughtfulness of the Y. W. C. A., which sponsored a Christmas treat and entertainment for them.

Great pleasure has come from preparing and serving Sunday night suppers.
